

Acquiring nouns that denote events in early childhood

Sudha Arunachalam, New York University

Most language acquisition research on word learning addresses either nouns that denote objects or verbs that denote events. I will present experimental data on the acquisition of a cross-cutting category: event nominals.